

ProExhibits seeking experienced Exhibit Builders and Warehouse Staff

ProExhibits is a well-funded, highly-respected exhibit and event company experiencing significant and continual growth for the past 22 years. Our company is recognized as an INC 500 company and as one of the fastest growing companies based in Silicon Valley. Moving forward, we have an aggressive growth strategy designed to capture market share and capitalize on the current economy. We are rapidly expanding our capabilities and are uniquely positioned to take advantage of the current business climate.

You are someone who:

- Enjoys working with your hands and your mind
- Likes building things and finds it exciting to build trade show booths and exhibits
- Is innovative and good at problem solving
- Has experience with wood fabrication, tools, and equipment
- Is comfortable working individually and as part of a team
- Wants to learn how to run a CNC router to cut wood, Plexiglas, and other materials

You are great at:

- Building exhibits for client previews
- Creating exhibits that are functional, beautiful, and light
- Maintaining a neat and organized work environment
- Working closely and cooperatively with others on the ProExhibits team
- Upholding the highest levels of ethics and professionalism

You are good at:

- Basic woodworking/safety procedures
- Using forklifts and other warehouse equipment
- Having an eye for details
- Troubleshooting and problem solving
- Possessing a high degree of initiative, self-motivation, and a strong desire to succeed
- Thriving in an enthusiastic and dynamic team environment, with the desire to make a personal impact on the company
- Learning on the job and aspiration to constantly improve
- Handling complex projects, time management, and prioritizing tasks
- Encompassing a strong work ethic and professional maturity
- Possessing integrity and ethics

ProExhibits offers:

- A top notch custom shop and warehouse
- A team that is fun, and effective at building jaw dropping trade-show exhibits
- A stable and high growth company to support and compensate employees

ProExhibits